Request for Proposals: Research on a Revenue-Neutral Carbon Tax Policy

Washington, D.C. – The Alliance for Market Solutions (AMS) today announced the release of a new Request for Proposals \(RFP\) for original economic research and analysis on a revenue-neutral carbon tax.

AMS is sponsoring new research and analysis to encourage an open dialogue among conservatives and build a foundation for greater understanding and future action on clean energy and carbon pollution. The purpose of this RFP is to solicit proposals from qualified researchers for original essays and empirical research on a revenue-neutral carbon tax as a policy solution to address carbon pollution, enhance economic welfare, and promote macroeconomic growth.

In this funding round, AMS's goal is to make multiple individual research awards in the range of $10,000 to $50,000, depending on a proposal's scope and, if relevant, the adequacy of support (such as facilities, equipment, supplies, and other resources) from the applicant's organization. In addition to tax and regulatory studies, examples of relevant categories for research (intended to be illustrative, not exclusive) include trade, national security, macroeconomics, distributional impacts, and political economy considerations.

Proposals are due on October 1, 2018, but early submissions are encouraged. For more details and submission information, see the full RFP here.

Alliance for Market Solutions (AMS) is an organization of conservative leaders with experience in business, government, and the intellectual community who know that markets and economic incentives are the most powerful drivers of change and are more efficient and effective than top-down regulation. We aim to educate conservative policymakers on the benefits of market-oriented solutions to one of America's most pressing economic challenges: advancing clean energy and reducing carbon pollution.

The carbon tax policy we support is consistent with a pro-growth conservative agenda. It would replace costly regulations and prevent new regulations from burdening families and job creators. And it would eliminate economically harmful taxes on investment and family incomes. AMS is a 501(c)(3) non-profit educational organization. We don't engage in electoral politics on behalf of any candidate, campaign or party. We are recruiting allies and developing policy analyses to help conservative policymakers consider a pro-growth, conservative carbon tax policy.
